Pamplin

"For as the rain cometh down, and the snow from heaven and returneth not thither, but watereth the earth and maketh it bring forth and bud, that it may give seed to the sower, and bread to the eater. So shall my word be that goeth forth out of my mouth: it shall not return unto me void, but it shall accomplish that which I please and it shall prosper in the thing whereto I sent it.' Isaiah 55:10, 11.

As we see the earth covered with snow we are reminded of these texts and God's wisdom in providing for his earthly children, and also His loving Watch care at all times. We are assured that his promises will be fulfilled in due time, though sometimes in mysterious ways, God never fails us though we often fail Him.

There has been a recent addition to the Carol Layne family, a little son, born last Thursday afternoon in the Virginia Baptist Hospital. Mother and baby are doing nicely.

I. Watt, of Appomattox, Mrs. Moore and three children, of Oakville.

Mrs. C. W. Slayton was dinner guests of Mr. and Mrs. Millard Slayton in Farmville last Wednesday. This was a very special occasion for it was Mrs. Slayton's birthday.

Mr. Scott Mann, of Richmond, for the last nine years, but formerly of Pamplin, is back among us and expects to make this his home town.

Mr. and Mrs. Louis Arthur, of Alexandria, Va., and Mrs. Ruby Jamerson were dinner guests of Beulah Cobb Saturday night.

Mrs. E. L. Pankey will be staying with her aunt, Mrs. Florence Dickerson in Cullen for sometime.

Mrs. Clayton Beale accompanied her nephew, Robert Bristentine and her sister, Mrs. Annie Orange, both of Prospect, and Mrs. Hunter Jamerson, of Spout Spring, to Lynchburg, last Friday. Mrs. Beale and Mrs. Orange had appointments with their doctor. They also visited Mrs. Marshall Cofey while there.

Father Darkleaf

By Calvin Robinson

Often I make notes for this column well in advance of the deadline. But then something develops to make me set aside my prepared copy and offer instead humble comment on some other development. I am prompted to do so now, and join in a salute or so concerning that immemorable First Citizen of the World, the late Sir Winston Churchill. Mr. Churchill made many visits to Virginia and I got to see and hear him on the second. I forgot to take along a camera to try for a picture. Could have, for I have in my picture album a close-up I took of Britain's great World War I leader, David Lloyd George. The jealous fact about Sir Winston was his amazing versatility. Had he never engaged in politics, he would still be remembered in history for his thirty books, his writings, his mastery of words, his career as a soldier and traveler. A neighboring daily paper used for his headline: Sir Winston Loses Battle. I disagree, for never a mortal won the battles of life, he was the shining example.

* * *

And a final comment as to Mr. Churchill. I suggest you turn to the Bible and read in St. John, Chapter 21 and Verse 22. The words therein applied to Our Saviour, but to a marked degree may also applied to Churchill.

The Appomattox National Historical Park fares reasonably well in the proposed new Federal budget. Some $72,000 is designated for roads, signs and markers in the Old Court House area. But, there is not the end of our needs. Important original roadbeds will be left for future allocations. Sheridan's trench fortifications and campsites not yet in Federal-owned areas and adequate marking of final positions of troops so that the visitor from Michigan, Texas, New Jersey or other state involved might come to see where his ancestor was stationed. And some day, some one will discover the buried canal. And we cry out for restoration of the Sweeney mill and its environs. It would be "good business" too, to have many, many things to see here, so that the tourist would not just pause for half an hour at the McLean House and hasten on. The challenge is to rebuild or restore and not to pack and be so hospitable that visitors will spend extra days . . . an extra day or two.

On hand is some eye-opening data as to predicted population increases and the problems incident. In thirty-five years we will arrive at the Year 2,000 and it is estimated the U.S.A. will have a population of over 300 million. World population will also jump from 3 to 4 billion by 1980. By the year 2,000, Appomattox County could have 50,000. Over the world, over 5,000 babies will be born while you are reading today's Darkleaf column! Operator 39, my Personal Sleuth, just asked where they all going to live. I said what about water supply.

I knew the answer was desalt sea water to fresh water and pipeline it to a network of cities. And there are such fantastic volumes of food and minerals in the oceans smart leaders say will provide transportation. Don't dig up the railroad tracks, for conveyor belt - type strips of plastics and aluminum will make our road systems obsolete and like the trial experiments in escalators, we will ride along the rails to Lynchburg or our shopping center, or Washington in fleeting moments. We will be able to live in Appomattox and commute to a job in Pittsburgh or Atlanta. I believe that the problem will not be that of food or water or money, but rather of the unskilled. Considering that our spiritual progress matches our material progress. The engineers, the specialists, the pioneers will outstrip the laggards; those who can lead the forward pace will have the possess understanding. The real Battle of New Orleans was fought some two weeks after the Treaty of Peace had been signed in Paris . . . due to slowness of communication. Right now, I am told at a picture taken a few moments ago in London. There will be quiet as many, and more marvelous changes just ahead. Even while some among us are

Prince Edward Names Directors For April Centennial

Al Smith, program director at Radio Station WFLO and H. S. Whitaker, Internal Revenue Service fieldman at Farmville, have been chosen to direct a commemoration of the Civil War Centennial in Prince Edward County.

They head a 60-member board of directors recently constituted as the Prince Edward County Centennial Committee. The directors approved a 15-member executive committee to proceed with final planning of a "serious, appropriate and worthy commemoration" to be held on the actual centennial dates of war events in Prince Edward, preferably one, possibly two days during the April 6, 7, and 8 period.

Appomattox Tie-In

This three - day time span encompasses the battle at Sayler's Creek on April 6, through the appearance, stay and leaving of Generals Lee and Grant and their armies. This would tie in with Virginia Centennial Commission plans for an Appomattox observance on April, 9, the actual surrender centennial date.

The directors approved including in the commemoration plans the dedication of a memorial tablet and shaft on the site of the Randolph House here, where the initial writing-and-receiving-exchange of surrender notes between Grant and Lee took place.

The executive committee also was directed to confer with national leaders of the North-SOUTH Skirmishers and Headquarters, Cavalry Staff, Army of Northern Virginia. Representatives of both of these authentic war period soldier groups have been here to offer services of their organizations for purposes of a reenactment.

Also approved was a tentative plan to invite descendants of Generals Lee, Grant, Ewell and other major military figures to be present for the commemoration events here, including a reception in their honor and a possible Centennial commemoration dinner.

Bloodmobile Hours Noon—6 P.M.

County Needs 125 Donors Monday

Donors by the dozens. They're all needed to fill this county's quota when the Bloodmobile comes Monday to Liberty Baptist Church from 12 noon to 6 p.m. The county needs 125 pints to stay in the program.

"We pride ourselves in helping our neighbors," said Dr. A. A. Fratrick, Blood Program chairman. "Giving a pint of blood is one of the best ways that we can show we care for our fellow citizens."

As chairman of the program and as a physician, Dr. Fratrick says he 'knows how important it is for all residents to have adequate amounts of blood available."

Dr. Fratrick assures those who have never donated that it is "easy and relatively painless" to give blood. Anyone in good health between the ages of 18 and 59 can donate. Anyone under 21, unless married, must have parents' written permission to donate.

Leaf Market Sales Bring $1,646,735

Volume of sales declined sharply last week on the three Virginia fire-cured tobacco markets. Deliveries were slowed considerably by cold weather and heavy snow in the area. Average prices by grades were unchanged to slightly lower, according to the Federal - State Market News Service. Growers continued to place only a small percentage of sales under loan. One of the major foreign buying companies completed its purchases during the week.

Gross sales for the four days ending January 21 totaled only 778,952 pounds and averaged $43.85 per hundred. The average showed a small loss of 51 cents from the record high level of the week before; poundage was the smallest of any week this year. Season turnover reached 7,843,977 pounds for an average of $43.84 and compares with gross sales of 5,634,488 pounds which returned $35.35 during the comparable period (19 days) last year.

Grade price variations from levels of the week before were chiefly $1.00 and $2.00 per hundred pounds with a few more losses than gains. Nearly 40 per cent of the offerings showed no change. Declines were more noticable for grades of heavy leaf and lugs while gains were concentrated in the thin leaf group.

Deliveries to the Cooperative were put at 2.4 per cent of the week's poundage. Growers have "pooled" 2.1 per cent of season turnover as against 6.4 per cent during the same period a year ago.

Farmville Report

The money and poundage difference between the 1964 crop of Virginia dark tobacco and the drought-ridden crop of 1963 has come sharply into focus after five weeks of auctions on the Farmville Market.

Auctions this year now total 3,707,458 pounds at the three warehouses here. That is 1,302,964 pounds greater than at the corresponding period a year ago.

Growers, who have marketed at Farmville in extra numbers this year, have received $1,646,735 for tobacco since the market opened December 1. That is $815,978 more than they had earned after five weeks' auctions of the 1963 crop.

Last week's sales amounted to $69,846 pounds: $46,130 pounds of dark-fired leaf and 23,716 pounds of sun-cured. For both, growers received $158,978.

Averages Down

The week's dark-fired average was $43.56, down $1.22 a hundred over the previous week. The sun-cured tobacco averaged $34.33 down $2.11 over last week.

For the season, the dark-fired average here now is $44.90 There are no records indicating that any previous crop maintained an average in excess of $40 for five straight weeks of sales.

Two weeks more remain before the scheduled market closings in Virginia on February 4. It is anticipated that at least a half-million pounds will be sold in the last two weeks. Present forecasts indicate a total Virginia dark-fired tobacco crop of nine and three-quarter million pounds.

Recommend Rt. 24 Be Made Four-Lane

The State Highway Department has submitted to federal authorities an ambitious and far-reaching program to develop a 1,600 mile system of scenic roads and parkways in Virginia.

Included in the recommendations is the improvement of the section of Route 24 adjacent to Appomattox Court House National Historical Park, to make that section a four-lane highway.

Total cost of the state's recommendations, prepared in accordance with a request to all states from the U. S. Bureau of Public Roads, would be an estimated 469 million dollars.

The contemplated program was hatched in 1962 when the late President John F. Kennedy, by executive order, created the Recreation Advisory Council.

Abbitt To Address Dairy Group

Motorists Must Stop On Both Lanes

When a school bus is discharging passengers, as shown above on Route 460 west of Appomattox, motorists in both lanes of the dual highway must come to a complete stop. Lt. L. E. Thomas of the Va. State Police, says that some motorists are not aware of the state law which requires this. Lrring motorists will be fined, he says, He and other law enforcement officials urge motorists to put "safety first" to protect school children and themselves. Speed limit on the dual highway from Appomattox to Concord is 55 miles per hour.

Dodson And Davis

Two Candidates For Senate

Thus far, there are two announced candidates for the senatorial seat left vacant by the death of Senator Charles Mosses, of Appomattox. They are Bertram F. Dodson, of Lynchburg, president of Dodson Bros. Pest Control Co. and Delegate James W. Davis of Amherst and Nelson Counties.

BERTRAM F. DODSON

Bert Dodson, 38 years old, was born on a farm in Campbell County where he grew up and worked hard with his nine brothers and one sister. He was educated in the public schools in Campbell County and received additional education from VPI and Purdue University. He owns and operates a farm in Appomattox and Campbell county. Dodson, who lives in Campbell County, is president of Dodson Bros. Pest Control Co. and has worked with and held office in a broad range of farm, business, government and civic capacities. He has completed eight years on the Board of Supervisors of Campbell County, two years as chairman. Dodson did not seek re-election to a third term last year, instead he was a candidate for State Senator in a three way race and won by a good majority in the Democratic Primary.

However, in the November election, although Dodson carried Campbell County by a landslide, due to the heavy Republican concentration in the city of Lynchburg, his Republican opponent won only by 178 votes from over 14,000 votes cast.

Dodson is past president of the League of Virginia Counties which includes all 96 counties of Virginia. He has served on the League's Legislative Committee in the 1960 and 1962 General Assemblies. He has served four years on the Advisory Board of Lynchburg General Hospital. He is presently serving on the Board of Trustees of the University of Virginia Extension College.

Dodson is past president of the Virginia State Pest Control Association, a member of National Pest Control Association and serves as chairman of Southeastern Region of the United States. He also is a member of the Entomological Society of America. In 1959 Dodson was cited by Virginia Polytechnic Institute in recognition of his interest, support and service to the V.P.I. Pest Control Courses.

He has been active for many years in Campbell County civic projects and community improvements. He has assisted in Red Cross work, Boy Scout fund raising drives, polio drives, programs to help the blind, crippled and needy. He is now serving as Co-Chairman in Campbell County of the United Fund.

Dodson is a member of the Hill City Masonic Lodge, Scottish Rite Body, President of Lynchburg Shrine Club, member of the Shine Kazim Temple of Roanoke, Elks Lodge, Brookville Lions Club, Loyal Order of Moose, Brookville Ruritian Club, Parent Teachers Association, Campbell County Chamber of Commerce, Young Men's Christian Association, Izaak Walton League and is past president of Forest Hill Ruritan Club.

He is married to the former Dorothy Hayes of Lynchburg, a former school teacher in Campbell County public schools. They have three children, Bertram F. Dodson, Jr. 11, Karen Lee, 8, both students at Brookville Elementary school and Bonny Lynn 4.

Dodson is a member of and has served as Treasurer on the Official Board, and on the Board of Trustees of Providence Methodist Church near Rustburg.

JAMES W. DAVIS

Davis is the second candidate to announce for the senatorial district which has been reapportioned by the General Assembly to include Campbell County which was sliced from the Lynchburg District and replaced with Bedford County. Moses' seat was abolished by the redistricting bills passed by the assembly.

Bertram F. Dodson, operator of a Lynchburg exterminating firm and a former member of the Campbell County Board of Supervisors has announced he is a candidate to succeed Moses in the 11th State Senatorial District.

Del. William A. Pennington, of Buckingham County also has been mentioned as a possible candidate.

Davis went to the House for his first term in 1961. He was reelected without opposition in 1963. He is now a member of the powerful House Appropriations Committee and also serves on the important House Education Committee and the House Agriculture Committee.

Donald G. Pendleton, Amherst attorney and chairman of the Democratic Executive Committee of Amherst County, went on record as a Davis supporter although he was known to have been considering entering the Senate race himself.
